

It has long been a huge stress in my life to see those fundraiser packets come home in my child's backpack, multiplied by 3, each one wanting me to order from them so they get the really tacky prize for raising a certain amount of dollars. Anyway as PTA president I have unfortunately realized the necessity for such fundraisers as we need a minimum of $20 per child in our school just to keep doing the things we do.

There is a way that I can try to get rid of fundraising for the PTA. I am offering to try to have parents donate an amount of money, tax deductible, to the PTA. To make this work, we have to raise a minimum of $20 per child, so I have to say that if, by the end of November, we do not have the donations needed, I will have to resort to fundraisers once again. I'm open to any ideas, as always and would love to hear from you. In the meantime I am sending out this general donation form to see if this works. Thanks again for reading.
